Centennial To Be Observed At Croton Church

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh area of the Methodist Church, will highlight the speakers list of the centennial celebration of the Croton Methodist church, which gets underway Wednesday evening, July 5.

Plans which were started many months ago by the church centennial committee, will culminate in an impressive four-day program which will attract many hundreds of present and former members of the church to participate in the unusual program.

Opens Wednesday Night

Dr. Thomas Morris, superintendent of the Grove City district, will inaugurate the centennial event, with an address on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A fellowship dinner will be an event of Thursday.

Three communities of Lawrence county will have special programs to celebrate July 4—Bessemer, Volant and Ellwood City. Cascade Park in this city will probably be the mecca for thousands during the day, also.

Thousands of roses are in bloom along the wall on North Mercer street between Winter and Leasneres.

Use of fireworks in this city and area preliminary to the Fourth has been less than usual this year.

Report is made of a pheasant hen that literally did traffic duty in the highway between Neshannock Falls and Rich Hill on Saturday evening, as a flock of six or eight young pheasants crossed the road. An auto was forced to stop in the highway to prevent running over the hen, which stood in the center of the highway until the small pheasants raced across the road.

This is a four-day holiday period for some. In some business institutions Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday comprise the holiday schedule.

Corn will apparently be the traditional "knee high by the Fourth of July" on most farms in the Lawrence county area.

Most hay being harvested on Lawrence county farms this season seems to be baled in the fields after being cut.

Tells Of Conditions Found In Korean Battle Areas

By CHARLES D. ROSECRANS, JR.
(I. N. S. Staff Photographer)
U. S. ARMY ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 3.—Arrival of the first American infantrymen at this advance U. S. Army Base in Korea gave the town a big boost in morale.

The atmosphere of the town changed from despair to confidence during the time we were on a trip to the Suwon airstrip.

At the airstrip I found that four abandoned American planes—an F-82, a C-54, a B-26 and an F-80—had been completely burned as a result of repeated attacks by planes marked with the Red Star insignia resembling that of the Soviet Air Force.

Back at this advance we noticed the first elements of an American combat infantry unit had given the town's morale a shot in the arm, but it is still a miserable place to be.

Food is bad and scarce, and water is undrinkable. Transportation is non-existent.

Americans are sleeping on board floors without blankets because hotel keepers and restaurant owners flatly refuse to accept American money.

Marshall And Eisenhower To Present Views

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are expected to join other noted Americans this week in telling Congress their views on the Far East crisis.

Marshall and Eisenhower, both former Army Chiefs of Staff, will testify along with Secretary of State Acheson, Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to Presidents, Lt. Gen. W. Bedell Smith, former ambassador to Russia, and others, before a Senate Foreign relations subcommittee.

The big name witnesses have been summoned to discuss a proposed "Marshall program of ideas" to stop Communism. But hardly anyone expects their testimony to be so limited.

Questions and answers undoubtedly will cover the entire range of the world situation.

Subcommittee members are expected to ask Eisenhower and Marshall about the Korean war and the chances of stamping it out before it spreads into a global conflict.

Holiday Death Toll Is Nearing 300-Mark Today

Millions Of Cars Are On Highways Across Nation

(BULLETIN)
(By International News Service)

The death toll for the long Independence Day holiday weekend passed the 300 mark today.

A survey by International News Service shows: Traffic crashes accounted for 217 lives.

Drownings claimed another 62 lives, and 48 persons died in miscellaneous accidents such as plane crashes and shootings.

(By International News Service)

The nation's holiday death toll neared the 300-mark today, midway in the long Fourth of July weekend.

Estimates are that nearly 500 persons will meet violent death during the week end vacation that began at 6 p. m. Friday and will extend through midnight Tuesday.

Latest figures showed 281 violent deaths thus far. Of these 191 were killed in traffic accidents, 33 by drowning, 11 in plane crashes and 46 miscellaneous fatalities.

The National Safety Council estimated that at least 385 persons will be killed in traffic accidents alone during the holidays.

450 Died Last Year

Last year, a three-day holiday, at least 450 persons met violent death. Of these nearly 290 were traffic fatalities.

This year a four-day holiday, is expected to pile up the grim figure of 500 deaths among those celebrating the Nation's Independence Day.

The National Safety Council estimated that approximately 36,000,000 cars will move over the nation's highways during the 1950 holiday and will consume 370,000,000 gallons of gasoline in rolling up 5,600,000,000 miles in four days.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, offered this simple advice to motorists who hope to be alive on July 5:

Five Injured In Auto Crash

Elderly Woman Has Both Hips Fractured

Five persons were injured, one seriously, in a two-car collision at the intersection of old and new Route 422, at The Harbor, five miles north of the city at 5:15 p. m. Sunday. According to the report made to the state police, a car driven by H. L. Gilmore, of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, which was stopped at the stop sign, pulled onto the highway, and collided with another car driven by Paul R. Jones, aged 55 years, of Spangler, Pa., which was travelling east.

Mrs. Johanna Anstead, aged 75 years, of 709 Fourth avenue, Paton, Pa., suffered a fracture of both hips and the right wrist. She is undergoing treatment in the Jameson Memorial hospital, her condition being reported serious although she had a fair night.

Also treated at the hospital were Mr. Jones, who had abrasions of the right knee; his wife, Mrs. Helen Jones, aged 42, lacerations of the right knee; Helen Elizabeth Jones, aged 12 years, general contusions of the body; and Ann Jones, aged 14 years, contusions of the left foot.

STORM BLOWS TREES OVER AT NEW WILMINGTON SUNDAY

Huge tree on Westminster college campus was blown down during Sunday afternoon storm in such a way that it blocked the south entrance to old Main. No college buildings were damaged by the storm however.

Storm Blows Trees Over In College Town

New Wilmington and vicinity was struck by its second severe storm within eight days, Sunday afternoon, when trees were blown down by wind and rain, causing considerable damage in the southern part of the borough and on the Westminster college properties.

The storm, which began about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and lasted only a few minutes, was of short duration but of such intensity that trees were blown over and large branches torn off.

Much of the damage done was caused by trees or parts of trees falling on power lines.

On the main college campus a huge tree was blown down blocking south entrance to Old Main and part of a tree fell on a lamp post on the White Way, putting lights on the White Way out of commission, along with other lesser damages. There was no damage to building on the campus.

Quiet Fourth In New Castle

July 4 promises to be a rather quiet day of celebration in New Castle. The usual family picnics out along the creeks seem to be the only promise of celebration.

Traffic through the city promises to be at its usual high holiday level. Saturday and Sunday the traffic began to thicken and by tonight will probably be at flood stage.

Cascade Park is preparing to handle a large crowd, and weather permitting the park should be crowded in the afternoon and evening.

Right now the whole thing is in the hands of the weather man. If rain comes a lot of folks and particularly concessionaires are going to be unhappy.

In the county outside the city, three community celebrations are planned. Ellwood City, Bessemer and Volant have old fashioned celebrations on tap for the day.

Showers Forecast For Holiday Period

(By International News Service)

Wet weather today and tomorrow in western Pennsylvania should cool off some of the fervent emotions that generally are a part of the Fourth of July.

It will be rather cloudy today with scattered showers and thunder storms and temperatures in the low eighties.

Tonight's low temperatures will range between 60 and 65 followed by partly cloudy with scattered thunder storms and somewhat warmer tomorrow.

U.S. Forces In Korea May See First Action This Week

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Defense department expects today that U. S. ground forces will see their first major Korean war action this week on the plains south of Seoul.

The department announced that the North Korean Communists are rushing south over three main shift, wooden bridges across the Han river in the Seoul area.

At the same time American troops are pouring northward from the provisional South Korean capital of Taejon, about 90 miles south of Seoul, the abandoned capital.

Weather For The Fourth

Generally Fair For Most Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—The U. S. Weather Bureau today forecast a generally fair July of July for most of the United States with scattered thundershowers in some areas.

In its revised nationwide forecast for Independence Day, the bureau said:

"Mostly fair weather is expected over large areas of the United States, but in portions of the Middle Atlantic states, the Ohio Valley, the eastern and southern portions of the Great Lakes region, and the middle Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, there is some chance of scattered and generally brief thundershowers.

Seven Enemy Planes Attack U.S. Positions

No Major Changes On Fighting Front Reported During Day

(BULLETIN)
TOKYO, July 4.—(Tuesday)
—(INS)—American troops arrived at the forward battle lines today after coming under enemy fire for the first time in the Korean war after seven low-swooping Communist planes strafed them with blazing rocket and machine gun fire.

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, July 3.—Tank-paced Communist troops, nearing battle with U. S. infantry, were forced back tonight after thrusting pincer prongs into strategic Suwon's north and south approaches and widening the invasion front toward South Korea's east coast.

U. S. Troops Strafed

Strafing of American troops moving toward battle lines by seven Communist North Korean rocket equipped fighter planes was reported by an International News Service correspondent in a dispatch telephoned to Tokyo from a South Korea base.

(A Reuters dispatch said the rocket-equipped Communist planes inflicted the first casualties upon U. S. troops. Reuters said the seven enemy planes machine-gunned forward American positions which allegedly lacked anti-aircraft protection.)

Bombs Are Dropped

The Communist Pyongyang radio broadcast that 30 American bombers dropped 800 bombs in two raids on the North Korea Communist capital. The broadcast said the bombers struck at 6:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. and claimed that two of the American planes were shot down.

No Evidence Of Direct Russian Participation

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—The army reiterated today that there is no evidence thus far of direct Russian participation in the Korean war.

A spokesman said Russian, Chinese Communists and North Korean Communists all have the red star as the basic figure in their insignia. Reports that planes with the Russian insignia have been shot down were attributed to this resemblance.

The air force estimated that "17 or 18" North Korean planes have been shot down thus far. A spokesman said these were all fighter and ground support types of Russian and Japanese makes.

Let those who will ride the highways, when holidays come around, it's safer by far in your own back yard, or out in a boat I've found. For no matter how careful your driving, there's always a couple of blokes who apparently don't believe the laws or seem to think they are jokes. So I'm willing to give them the highways. ## Israel-Denmark Support U.N. In Korean Situation

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 3. —(INS)—Israel and Denmark have announced their support of United Nations efforts to drive North Korean invaders back beyond the 38th parallel.

This brought to 39 the number of U. N. member states which have rallied behind the security council's action to restore peace in Korea, initiated by the United States. The council is expected to meet this week, probably on Wednesday, to establish a war coordinating group to link the U. N. directly with General Douglas MacArthur's command.

Pressure is building up for the U. N. to strengthen the allied cause by naming MacArthur U. N. generalissimo.

U.S. FORCES IN KOREA MAY SEE FIRST ACTION THIS WEEK

In a few days, defense officials predicted that the Korean engagement may last as long as six months. A quick victory might be followed by a drive to push the Communists back to the 38th parallel.

But even with the most successful action, the officials said, mopping up operations could take as much as six months.

Indications in Washington are that the first battle may involve about 40,000 men on each side and may be expected this week.

By the end of the week, the Americans north of Taegon are expected to be 15,000 strong and have their artillery and anti-tank guns in place.

Only about 15 per cent of Americans eat a proper breakfast, say dieticians.

In order to get all vacations in the plant over with at one time, Johnson Bronze Co. is not operating this week. A maintenance crew is at work and the week will be used to care for a few minor improvements in maintenance equipment.

Barring rain and other unforeseen circumstances Tuesday should bring out the largest group of church and family picnickers that has been seen this summer in this district. Several Sunday school outings are planned in district parks, while hundreds of families will be dining in the outdoors on the Fourth.

U. S. Ambassador John Muccio, who is playing an important role in the crisis, is living in a tiny frame house. His living room is cluttered and dirty.

Four or five embassy attaches sleep on the floor there each night, and a steady stream of Americans come for the coffee and soup his GI cook now keeps hot at all times.

During our trip to the Suwon airstrip we found the roads clogged with South Korean refugees heading away from the front.

Col. Song Yo Chang, South Korean provost marshal, reported that the North Korean Communist invaders had ferried two companies of troops, four trucks and a jeep across the Han river southeast of Suwon.

Military authorities expressed the opinion to newsmen that Communist forces are running into transport difficulties as well as South Korean opposition.

Two Sharpsville women were slightly injured in a collision on the Wilmington road, one mile north of the city, at 1:20 p. m., Saturday, which involved a city bus, and two passenger cars.

Treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, were: Alexandria DeSantis, aged 23 years, of 503 Pearce avenue, Sharpsville, laceration of the chin; and Natalie Frye, aged 34 years, of 1246 Milliken avenue, Sharpsville, who suffered a bruise of the right side of the head.

According to the report made to state police, Miss Frye attempted to pass a bus, driven by Harry McOwen, both of whom were travelling north, and collided with a car driven by Robert Moffatt, of R. D. 2, Portersville. The Frye girl's car then struck the front of the bus.

A headdress of seeded pearls secured the fingertip veil of bridal illusion. Her flowers consisted of an arm bouquet of white roses, centered with a Cattleya orchid and showered with satin ribbons. A single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, was her only jewelry. She was given in marriage by her stepfather, Hugh Smith.

Miss Loly Wong of San Antonio, Tex., the bride's only attendant, was dressed in light blue marquisette and lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Her gored skirt accentuated the wedding band waistline. She wore a matching white picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of white roses, centered with a gardenia.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the groom's gift. Miss Joanne Swasey of Washington, D. C., who served as maid of honor, wore a pink candle light-length gown of sheer nylon. Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses. Kenneth L. Scheppelle of Nutley, N. J., attended the bridegroom as best man.

DAYS OF 1776—1950

It is doubtful whether Americans today fully realize the bold and daring nature of the decision which led to the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776.

The 13 colonies along the Atlantic Seaboard were small and weak and the colonists were bitterly divided on the wisdom of the step. It took no little courage for men like Thomas Jefferson, Caesar Rodney, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas McKean to risk their lives and fortunes by openly defying the great power of the British Crown to declare these colonies "free and independent states."

Not the shooting of firecrackers or the rocket's red glare will contain the meaning of Independence Day. The true meaning is to preserve a high esteem for the gifts of freedom at a time when the darkness of tyranny is all around.

An anniversary is empty unless one rededicates himself to original purposes. The original purpose of this nation, as eloquently expressed by its founders, was equality of opportunity for all. The thought itself at that time, 174 years ago, was world-shaking. A great many Americans and most foreigners thought the colonists would not get away with it. It was an ideal, for a fact, and in numerous ways America has fallen short of it.

But the idea, in its general form, has had a great triumph here in the New World. During the nineteenth and a part of the twentieth centuries it was a leaven in many lands. It has made America the greatest of all nations.

The divine right of kings has been thrown off. Despotism is coming back in another form. Individuals seeking power agitate against republican processes behind glowing promises of soaking the rich and lifting up the poor. The farther that campaign continues, the more its mockery becomes apparent.

Finally the agitators, installed in places of power, rule not by divine right but by the authority of force and fear. Thus the clock turns back and the American ideal suffers.

MAKING BUSINESS THE GOAT?

The tax bill reported out by the House Ways and Means Committee not only subjects large corporations to an increase in taxes but forces them to spend undetermined, but obviously vast, sums of their own money in the interest of the government. The reference, of course, is to the provision which will require business concerns to withhold for the treasury 10 per cent of all dividends paid to stockholders.

Obviously this requirement, if enacted into law, will impose an enormous amount of bookkeeping upon the corporations. Firms with several hundred thousand stockholders—and there are many in this class—will be forced to hire additional help and go to the expense of buying new accounting machinery.

The purpose of the committee in inserting this provision in the bill is to make it easier for the government to catch up with citizens who fail to report dividends in their income tax returns. It's a $170,000,000 a year loophole which the committee is thus trying to close up.

Nevertheless, the proposal to load this job on the corporations is just another illustration of the Washington habit of making business the goat. It is to be hoped that it will be voted down by at least one branch of Congress. If the government has this work to be done, it should do it itself.

BACK TO SUPER CARRIER

If aircraft carriers are far from obsolete as a type of carriers unfit for use by jet aircraft will likely become obsolete soon. Most American fighters operating in Korea are of the jet type.

The flying blowtorches are not suited to the traditional carrier. It is not long enough; the "island" for conning the ship is a hazard magnified by the jets' speed and the rush of hot gasses from their tail pipes.

The Air Force won a victory over the Navy when Secretary of Defense Johnson ordered a halt to construction of the 65,000-ton carrier United States. The Air Force had demanded sole responsibility for strategic bombing. Its victory in the case of the super-carrier may have been a defeat for good sense in military planning.

In the absence of any opposition by the Air Force now, it must be assumed that it has become reconciled to a flush-deck carrier long enough for jet bombers. Mr. Johnson is reported as ready to approve one to be undertaken next year.

Such a ship would be larger than carriers of the Midway class which are too wide to pass through the Panama Canal. Probably that is why two big ones have been proposed—one for each side of the continent.

When Col. James Doolittle took his B-25s off the short deck of the Hornet in 1942 he knew they could not come back for a landing, because a landing takes more runway than a takeoff. Construction of a supercarrier will mean acceptance of two propositions: That mobile platforms for bombers may be necessary in war, and that the bombers ought to be able to come back to the ship instead of having to try to land somewhere in friendly territory.

It is to be doubted that anyone really knows if a super-carrier is necessary. But planning must be done just the same. The country can only insist that the experts of the services lay aside all pealousies to do their best to plan balanced and strong defenses. The people, convinced of the caliber of the plans, will pay the bill.

It's in weather like this that one wonders how come they ever named it the North Temperate Zone.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Fateful Decision Is Made

Time and again in the history of the United States, prophets and historians alike have spoken of a "year of decision". But in modern decades at least, no more awesome and fateful ones ever have been taken than those climaxed with the announcement by President Truman that United States ground forces are under orders to fight in Korea.

At the same time, he virtually eliminated the now famous 38th parallel dividing Soviet-controlled North Korea from the southern republic, and unless all military experts and diplomatic authorities are completely wrong, the communist invasion should soon be coming nothing more than a matter of record.

Has Different Aspect

But in retrospect, this has quite a different aspect. Total war, in its current meaning, leaves no space for reservations. Every legal tenet of so-called "merciful warfare" as laid down in treaties signed years ago was violated almost from the beginning by Germany, Italy and Japan.

The infamy of the Pearl Harbor attack itself justified any reprisals and despite all arguments to the contrary there is no question that use of the atomic bomb saved thousands of American lives.

Blueprints for the planned "battle of Tokyo" which was made unnecessary by the explosions at Hiroshima and Nagasaki are among the most formidable in the annals of war.

Three separate landings were planned—two of them more or less feints and the third a real invasion deploying many divisions whose men knew and accepted the fact that their ranks would be decimated.

Secrecy On Plans

The necessary secrecy surrounding the high-level discussions in Washington and the actual military operations on Korea make impossible presentation of a full picture at the present time.

But there is no doubt that the use of ground forces was given gravest consideration and it became clear that the South Korean troops were no match for the armored strength from the north.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD WORD FOR GRANDPARENTS

Previously we have considered a few ways by which some grandparents hamper their son or daughter in the bringing up of the grandchildren. For these grandparents I have prepared a special bulletin, "Suggestions to Grandparents," to be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Also pointed out that many young parents impose on the grandparents and fail to appreciate what these grandparents contribute to the grandchildren. By the way, many young parents and their children go visiting in summer to the home of the grandparents living in rural areas. Or they leave one or more of the grandchildren with the grandparents there. This privilege for the grandchildren often is a heavy burden to the unselfish grand-parents, unless the children have learned to share in the drudgeries in the home of the grandparents. The visiting grandchildren can lose more than they gain in moral values if they fail to care for themselves and to help the grandparents, as much as they should.

Think of all the children deprived of one or both parents by death or divorce, who are brought up by loving grandparents. (Some of the great men and women of the world were reared by grandmothers.) What might happen to some of these children but for grandmothers? With the growing number of children made motherless by divorce the grandmother is more often going to be the only hope for these children. Who has a word of praise for her?

While Mother Works

Let's give thought also to the many grandmothers who care for young children whose mothers work, or whose mothers gad about or wantonly neglect their children. Think of the affection and tenderness many of these children get from grandmother ministering to their physical needs, reading to them, answering their questions kindly, encouraging their creative play, welcoming their playmates, talking with them about doing right, teaching them of the love of God, perhaps. Not all grandmothers are so wonderful, of course, but far more are than the persons who read the average article about grandmothers suppose.

True, some grandparents give children too much money and other material things, pamper the young grandchildren and do all sorts of things to make these youngsters selfish. But let us not overlook the many more grandparents who help the young parent financially to educate the grandchildren; and cultivate thrift and self-denial and self-control in the grandchildren. Did you ever consider how many young persons have gone to college or entered the ministry or aspired to live a life of service in various other ways, have striven to be useful in the world because of the influence of grandparents? How often, too, one or both grandparents living with the growing young family provide stability and emotional security for the grandchildren. I don't believe we should have the grandparents destroyed. Anyway let us who are grandparents try to be good grandparents. I may, however, be a bit biased as Mrs. Myers and I have ten young grandchildren.

It can be argued that it makes no difference whether an enemy is bombed by an airplane, shelled by a warship or made the target of bazookas and artillery. Yet the dispatch of infantry and artillery means that with gravest reluctance, against its real will and only under the press of real necessity, the United States has committed itself to the Asiatic mainland.

The mere thought of a knot of American soldiers on that vast expanse if a forbidding one.

Open To Assault

They carry the flag into an area where in the event of a full-scale war, they would be open to assault by monumental Soviet strength.

To their north is the powerhouse of Manchuria, vast reservoir of Russia's force in eastern Asia. To their west is communist-occupied China and to the east is Japan, thinly occupied by United States troops and in no position to furnish anything in the way of military assistance if needed.

In briefest terms, the United States government thus decided upon a "calculated risk" that apparently could not be avoided. Soviet Russia seems determined to eject western influence from the Chinese mainland and the western allies are equally determined to stay there.

The latter reasoning is based upon utter conviction that the new role of world communism is open military aggression in place of subversion; shooting instead of bribery and the other instruments of this political philosophy.

It is too early to tell whether Mr. Truman's newest decisions will mean a more active Soviet role in the conflict, a stiffening of North Korean resistance or a swift resolution in a highly dangerous situation.

But the decisions have been made. And they have an enormous place in history.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Football fans who think that the new system of unlimited substitutions and separate "platoons" of players for defensive and offensive operations are ruining the game from the spectators' point of view, hailed with glee a fanciful piece in the Atlantic Monthly by Samuel Yellen which carries the whole business to a logical conclusion.

"The time is a decade hence when big colleges like Notre Dame and Michigan have developed a special patoon for every kind of play, with a squad of 200 players considered grossly undermanned. There comes that inevitable day when, in all the hub-bub, one variety's offensive squad completes a brilliant touchdown march only to discover it has been riding roughshod over its own defensive unit. At this point everybody quits in disgust, and Michigan decides to use its new stadium for a revival of Euripides."

TAKE IT EASY

Friends, when you drive your motor car, Though you're traveling near or far, Please take it easy. Surely, it's better to be late Than to imperil someone's fate. Please take it easy.

Don't try to make up time that's lost, The risk you take's not worth the cost. Please take it easy. An early start will get you there, Right side up and with time to spare, So take it easy.

Accidents are all ugly things With broken bones or tender dings. Just take it easy. They bring real hardship and remorse And would not happen if perforce You'd take it easy.

Don't hog the road or glare your lights Especially when driving nights. Please take it easy. Don't zig-zag over traffic lines, That's reckless and imposes fines. So take it easy.

And beating lights, or jamming brakes, Are foolish things, for goodness sakes! Now take it easy. Good drivers, friends, drive safe you know. They know how fast, how slow to go. They take it easy.

Drive carefully, cut down the pace. Why speed as though you're in a race? Just take it easy. You'll save a life and save some gas And if we heed these tips enmass We'll take it easy.

'WHOSE BIRTHDAY IS THIS, ANYHOW?'

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Surprise For Kremlin?

WASHINGTON, July 3.—If you had been one of that exclusive company of Stalin, Molotov, et al., sitting in the inner fastness of the Kremlin with its circle upon circle of guards, you would during the past six months have been reading reports on conditions in America. You would want to know the intentions, the capacity, the temper of the greatest power in the West.

You would not need the reports of your secret agents to learn that there were serious divisions and weaknesses in America. A member of the United States Senate publicly charged that the Department of State was infiltrated at the highest level with Communists. And this charge touched off a violent political quarrel that absorbed much of the energy and attention of both executive and legislative branches of the government.

America Divided?

In the Kremlin this obviously meant that America was divided and weak. It could be put along side reports that within the powerful Republican party a move was growing for "peace" and an end of foreign adventures.

So if you were one of that little group of planners, you might calculate that it was safe to make a beginning, particularly since all the reports confirmed what you wanted to believe, your preconceived ideas about American democracy and its conflicts and contradictions. So you would risk the Korean attack, expecting a quick and easy conquest. And you would be tremendously surprised when the United States reacted as it has reacted—not alone in Korea but at three other key points in Asia.

Perhaps the time has come to look at our own reaction here at home. Except for the Communists and a few others on the extreme right, most people seem to have felt an enormous relief. You could almost hear a collective sigh go up that action had been ordered and division and doubt at least for the time being ended.

Found Scapegoat There were those who accepted the fact but reluctantly and with the need to find a scapegoat. Conspicuous in this class was Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. And Taft found as his scapegoat—it hardly surprised anybody—Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

This has a tender little irony all its own. For at one point in the McCarthy barrage, and it may well have been the crucial point of achievement or rejection of the assault, Taft gave his blessing to the technique of aiming at another victim if you miss the first one.

It seems to me that the State Department can be criticized for failing to evolve and carry out a positive and constructive program for the Far East. But to put all the blame on Acheson is like blaming a runner for failing to win a race when everyone has been busy putting obstacles in his way.

A positive, constructive program in peacetime calls for a maximum of public acceptance. It calls for confidence in the motives and the objectives of those who are carrying it out.

Atmosphere Opposite! The atmosphere of the past five months has been just the opposite. Everything has been done to break down confidence. The attacks have produced timidity, uncertainty, delay. Decisions and Korea is an excellent example, have been blurred over and conflicting views have gone unresolved.

Now, thanks to the aggressive action of the Communists in Korea, there is an immediate and tangible task to be carried out with American weapons and American courage and skill. The headlines show that that assignment is considerably more difficult than was realized in the first burst of relief that action and more action and more action could be substituted for uncertainty and division.

But it may not be too early to try to take a little longer look into the future. American action can end the conflict. No one doubts that the Communist invaders can and must be driven out.

Will Be Worse Off When that has been done, however, the position of the South Korean republic will be far more desperate than it was before. And it has all along been a pretty weak instrument. Towns will be smashed, lines of communications and roads destroyed and thousands of refugees made homeless.

To help restore a stable order will take more skill, patience and unity than we have yet shown in our dealings with the peoples of Asia. Without the provocation of open Communist aggression, the whole picture in Asia might have further deteriorated while we bickered among ourselves. We cannot always count on action, action, action to avert the larger and longer responsibility of world order and peace.

Must Give Him Credit

WASHINGTON, July 3 It would be a biased critic, indeed, who would withhold from Mr. Truman full credit for the bold decision made by him last Monday in the Korean crisis. And, although nearly all our eminent journalistic global thinkers (who for ten days and more had been busily explaining how impossible it was for us to do anything effective now) were left pretty well out on a limb, it is significant how few tried even to save face.

There were a couple of extreme isolationist senators who cried that the President had "violated the Constitution." Senator Taft's attack was on Mr. Acheson and previous policy but he approved the "general principle" of the President's action. In the House, the only "bleat" came from the communistic Marcantonio, who strictly adheres to the Soviet point of view and cares far less for our Constitution than for an oak leaf in a tail breeze. Naturally, no one wanted to line up with this creature of the Kremlin and the chorus of presidential approval was nonpartisan and overwhelming almost to the point of unanimity.

At this writing, before Kremlin action and before the military effectiveness of our move can be definitely ascertained, it, of course, is impossible to predict the ultimate outcome. However, it does seem possible to assert certain specific facts. First, despite discouraging news, there is the conviction here that our swift and firm action will be successful; that it is definitely in our own interests and definitely in the interests of the peace-seeking people of the world, the only possible step of the world, the only possible step to halt an indefensible aggression by a ruthless and implacable foe.

Second, there is the belief that should what we have done prove futile either to save Korean democracy, for which we are sponsor, or to prevent the dreadful outbreak of the third world war, which is our great objective—in brief, should the worst occur, it still better to have acted as we have than have done anything else suggested by either responsible or irresponsible sources. For the course we have adopted is not only the courageous course but the only logical and safe course. It is true it has involved a reversal of Mr. Truman's Far East policy and a repudiation of a great many things Secretary Acheson has said on the subject. The protruding fact, however, is that there was nothing else to do. To have done less would not only have meant a shocking loss of national self-respect but it would have cost us the confidence of our allies against communism all over the world. It would have left all Asia, as one authority expressed it, a "rancid and unsavory mess waiting for the Soviet spoon to dish it up." Our prestige everywhere would have been devastated. Our "leadership" in the fight for freedom would have become a joke. Had we remained supine in face of the Korean challenge, practically everything would have gone down the drain.

It would have been equivalent to throwing in the towel before a blow was struck. Vastly more powerful than the Soviet nation, we would have been bluffed and bullied into craven acquiescence of an utterly intolerable situation. With the Korean invasion, all that high-minded Trygve Lie stuff of making overtures to the Russians, and all the global publicists for a "better understanding of the Russian mentality," went "out the window." No one has ventured to recall one of these hopeful thoughts since the Truman statement. It makes no difference whether Mr. Truman wrote that statement or whether it was written for him, which it was. He signed it—and that is the vital thing. No one credited it to any of the former Truman speech writers. For example, it is not nearly flamboyant enough for his former literary aide, Mr. Clark Clifford, now practicing what is absurdly called law in Washington. There are some who think it may have been the product of Mr. Thomas Finletter, recently named Secretary of the Army for Air, who participated in all the conferences and who has one of the best minds and most facile pens in Washington.

But, to repeat, that makes no difference. Nor does it make much more of a man made up his mind for him. The main thing is it was made right. It was approved by all his counselors and at no time when called upon to reverse himself did the President show any trace of dismay or hesitation. Two other points perhaps should be mentioned. One is that undoubtedly the extraordinarily timely visit of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and Chief of Staff Omar Bradley to General MacArthur gave the President immensely valuable first-hand information that must have had great weight with him. The other point is that the complete accord on the decision between Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of State Acheson (though it certainly involved some reversal upon the part of the latter) makes more or less foolish the columnist campaign picturing these two outstanding members of the Cabinet as engaged in a bitter personal feud, differing on every important question and each concerned largely in an effort to annihilate the other.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Marriage has been expertised by more different kinds of experts than almost any other subject. Teachers, preachers, psychologists, doctors, poets, writers, judges and plain busybodies all have laid down rules for happy marriage.

The divorce rate has remained about the same. But now comes something new in the realm of matrimonial advice. It is about the best I have seen so far, and it will behoove any and all newlyweds to heed it.

The expert in this case is the Connecticut State Highway Safety Commission, which says that too many marriages are spoiled by domestic accidents.

In the first place these accidents are liable to injure one or the other of the two contracting parties. Or, at least, they are liable to spoil tempers, start fights and tensions and may eventually lead to divorce.

For instance, let us say, the young husband comes home from work. The bride holds out her arms, ready to enfold him. He rushes into the anticipated embrace—and slips on a rug. You can figure out the rest yourself.

So the C.S.H.S.C., as I shall call it hereafter, has a rule for newlyweds: Be sure to purchase non-skid rugs. During the first four months of 1950 almost a hundred persons were severely injured by such falls in the little State of Connecticut alone!

Here is another C.S.H.S.C. rule that will contribute to a happier and safer marriage: Beware of the old-fashioned can opener. An indispensable tool for the young bride, it is a booby trap! Rotary can openers make this murderous, pointed instrument outmoded. Being married men themselves, the members of the commission ought to know.

Be careful about your electrical appliances. See that they carry the Underwriters' Laboratories label. Never place cords under rugs, in door jams or over radiators or steam pipes. Don't disconnect appliances by pulling out the cord. It is important, of course, that the home be pretty. A pretty home makes for happiness. But don't sacrifice utility for beauty.

Arrange furniture in such a way as to minimize the possibility of falls or bumps. Even the most beautiful bride doesn't look prettier with a bump where it shows. Even if it doesn't show, a bump is liable to cause discomfort and pain. I admit that there isn't anything very poetical or romantic about the C.S.H.S.C. But I can assure you that ro-

South Koreans Send Message Of Thanks To American People

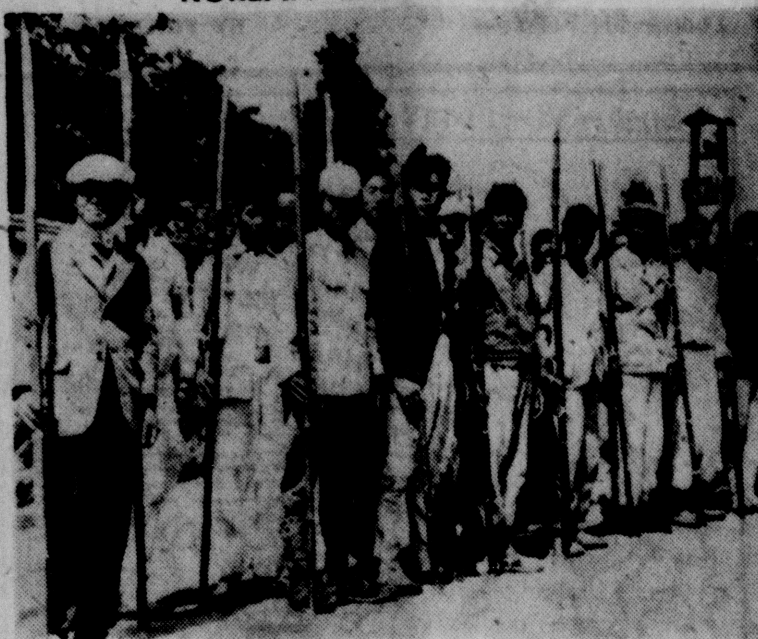

TAEJON, Korea, July 3.—(INS)—The South Korean national assembly sent a message to President Truman and the American people today, thanking them for the "quick and adequate decision to extend military aid to Korea."

The message, sent from the South Korean emergency capital in Taejon, said the purpose of the American assistance was to "defend democracy and uphold the principles of the United Nations." The Korean parliament sent another message to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, thanking the United Nations for its "quick action to save Korea."

Stork Leaves Forty Babies On Shipboard

PORT SAID, July 3.—(INS)—The former luxury liner Atlantis is plowing through the Mediterranean sea today headed for Rotterdam in a losing race against a heavily burdened stork. So far the stork has delivered 40 babies on shipboard.

The harassed staff of the ship's hospital has been increased to 73 including seven doctors but officials fear even this won't be enough for there are 211 more expectant mothers aboard. What has turned the royal mail liner into a floating nursery is that it is carrying Dutch service men and their families home from the Far East.

The stork derby began even before the ship left Indonesia. One baby—to be named Felix Atlantis—was born ten minutes after his mother came aboard. During the first four days at sea 12 boys and four girls were born in rapid succession. The strain began to tell on the ship's laundry and its staff finally had to be doubled.

My job is to make loans to local people. I like to say YES and do say YES to 4 out of 5 who come to me for a loan. Yet I can't help feeling that my most important job is getting people out of debt—selling fresh starts.

Take the young couple who came to see me only last week. The husband was making good money. Yet they couldn't seem to make ends meet. They wanted a loan of $50 until payday.

With their permission, I went over their income and expenses on a worksheet* my company has just published. In 10 minutes, we'd spotted the trouble. Their monthly installment payments were just too high. After meeting them, they didn't have enough money to handle their regular monthly expenses. I lent them the cash to pay these accounts in full. Now they're repaying Personal—in monthly amounts that fit their income. They are happy with their fresh start.

Now I don't claim a loan is always the answer to a money problem. When it is, I say "yes" promptly. You also get the benefit of my years of experience with family budgets. ## Local Employment Office Administers 964 Tests

During the first six months of 1950 the New Castle office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service administered a total of 964 aptitude and proficiency tests.

Of the 964 administered, 213 were general aptitude tests designed to measure several aptitudes which have been found important for success in many occupations.

They are used primarily to help fit young people with little or no work experience into jobs most suited for them. They are also used, however, to help place older workers entering or re-entering the labor market, handicapped persons, and workers dissatisfied with their present jobs, into positions that will be beneficial not only to themselves but to their employers.

General Aptitude test battery is composed of 15 tests, selected because they are good measures of ten aptitudes that have been found to be important to successful job performance on a large number of jobs.

Of the 15 tests, 11 are paper and pencil tests and four are apparatus tests. Approximately two and one quarter hours are required to administer the battery.

For Graduates
Through these tests boys and girls graduating from high school, not intending to enter colleges, may find fields of work that they are best suited for, without wasting years trying to find a suitable position.

Nearly 75 percent of those persons taking the tests in the first six months of 1950 were high school students or recent high school graduates.

Besides general aptitude tests many tests are given to measure the aptitudes in specific fields. In the past six months 253 tests were given for punch press operators, 205 for machine shop, 87 for clerical positions, 36 for small parts assembler, 34 for stitcher machine operators and 30 for inspectors positions.

The volume of tests administered this year by the local Pennsylvania State Employment office is evidence that aptitude and proficiency testing is becoming an important factor in hiring and upgrading personnel and that employers are realizing that through selection of proper workers for the proper jobs is one means of cutting costs.

YOUTHFUL BRIDE'S SECOND MARRIAGE

"Our daughter was married while in her teens and due to circumstances beyond our control she is divorced. Now she is about to be married, desiring the most elaborate wedding possible under the circumstances. Are we correct in assuming that she may wear a bridal gown in a pastel? How many bridal attendants are permissible? Is the groom's sister a must in the wedding party?"

Answer A white bridal dress and veil, orange blossoms and bridesmaids are correct for a maiden bride only. Regardless of the circumstances of the first wedding—the youthfulness of the bride—the fact that she is not a maiden limits her choice of wedding ensemble. It would look "stagey" for her to wear a pastel gown and veil. She might, though, choose a full-length pastel dress with a matching hat draped with a shoulder-length veil, such as worn by bridesmaids in formal wedding.

A maid-of-honor, a best man and, if necessary, ushers should be her only attendants. The groom's sister is not a must especially when the bride will have only one attendant. In a large wedding with many bridesmaids, it is customary for the bride to include the groom's sister, as it is for the groom to include the bride's brother to be an usher.

Question: I have a friend who married a clergyman. When I send letters to them should they be addressed "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" or "Reverend and Mrs. Smith"? I know both well enough to call them by their Christian names.

Answer: The Reverend and Mrs. John Smith. "Reverend Smith" is incorrect without the insertion of his Christian name. Unless he is a doctor of Divinity, he should be spoken to and introduced as Mr. Smith. If he is a D.D., he should be introduced "Dr. Smith."

Why Pop Misses Sunday Services

HARTFIELD, Sussex — (INS) — The Rev. G. C. Pepps, rector of Hartfield, says that father avoids Sunday church services because he dislikes dressing in his "Sunday best."

Rev. Pepps has been holding a religious "brains trust" in a local pub to find out why people stay away from church.

"I always have a few drinks with the locals, but I learned a lot from the brains trust which was part of a recent mission in Hartfield," said the 35-year-old ex-Navy chaplain.

"I know now that it is definitely 'father' and not 'mother' who objects to dressing up to come to church."

"He has probably got up early to help with the chores and is contemplating relaxing in his old clothes for the rest of the day when services begin."

"Now I have had a chance to make it clear to the villagers that I am just as happy to see them wearing their working clothes."

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, July 3.—(INS)—To be a real boudoir beauty, a lady should dress to match her bed.

Or at least drape herself like her drapes!

The world's largest decorator-fabric house, F. Schumacher, today introduced a new style trend: coordinated fabrics to be used on a lady's bed, a lady's lampshades, a lady's window rods and a lady's drapes!

They showed chintz prints which can be used for housecoats as suitably as for house furnishings. With them came a recommendation that a coordinated fabric scheme will lend high fashion to the parlor and the kitchen too.

Newest of the prints was a "Lady Godey" pattern, a reproduction of the primly famous Godey girls in mauve, chateaufort and magenta shades against a white background.

All early American-type prints, Schumacher pointed out, are as fashionable for 1950 as in colonial times.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By P. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Children and Death

Tommy was only five years old when his grandfather died. His family felt he should attend the funeral. At the funeral there was the customary weeping which greatly distressed Tommy. He couldn't understand what was happening, but, affected by the grown-up's grief, he became almost hysterical. For days afterward he worried about it.

When Anita's favorite aunt died, the family spared her the funeral ceremonies. They had told her that Aunt Sally had gone away to Long Island. This was true in a sense because she was buried there. But Anita also heard that her aunt had gone to Heaven. Others in the family used the word "passed" when they talked about her death. Anita was terribly confused.

Death, if it is near and dear to us is hard to accept. We try to evade its reality. We are anything but "natural" in our reactions. And this is reflected in the interpretations we give to children. No one can deny that it's a difficult task to explain to children. But it is important that we do as much as we can to keep them from becoming confused and disturbed.

Donates His Land For Summer Camp

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—A 52-year-old St. Louis Negro is making it possible for a white Boy Scout troop to go to a new country camp this summer.

H. D. Robinson, a bachelor who came to St. Louis 31 years ago, is the owner of a twenty-acre tract to St. Louis Boy Scout troop eleven, whose headquarters are at the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

He is modest in accepting praise for his gift of the land at nearby Troy, Mo.

Robinson, a graduate of Philander Smith college in his native Arkansas, only comments:

"Life in St. Louis has been good to me.

"The main reason for my gift is the treatment I've received from so many white people, especially the Jews."

"Why not help out when I could? I think there are times and places when the colored man should turn the tables, and show that he too, can be beneficial."

KILL TOMATO HORNSWORMS WHILE THEY ARE SMALL

Practically all gardeners and commercial tomato growers are familiar with large, green worms that eat the leaves of tomato plants during the summer. These worms, called tomato hornworms and tomato worms, actually may be two different insects but so nearly alike in their life habits that the method of controlling them is the same.

They vary from 3 to 4 inches long when grown and have a spine or "horn" that projects from the rear of the body. This spine is not poisonous as is sometimes believed. The adults are beautiful hawk moths, sometimes called humming bird moths, and may be noticed coming to lights in late spring. The moths lay their eggs singly on tomato and certain other plants.

These worms can best be controlled while they are small. Frequent examinations of tomato plants should be made for the next few weeks and control measures applied when they are needed. Growers may control these worms by spraying or dusting with arsenicals or cryolite. For spraying, use 3 pounds of lead arsenate or 6 pounds of cryolite to each 100 gallons of water. In small quantities, use 2 tablespoons of lead arsenate or 3 tablespoons of cryolite to each gallon of water. Growers desiring to dust should use a mixture of 1 pound of lead arsenate to 4 pounds of hydrated lime. Where protection of only a few plants is desired, hand-picking of the worms may be the most practical means of control.

Lines to houses on Vine street were also down, causing services to be put out on many of the homes. Telephone wires were also down in some sections.

The New Wilmington volunteer fire department was called to the home of James Patterson on Vine street, where the electric wires were down and the wires were burning toward the house.

Firemen cut the wire as a precautionary measure.

Crews, under the direction of borough supervisor, Harry Shaffer began making repairs as soon as the storm ended. Electrical service was restored before nightfall, but clean up of other damage was still going on today and will probably not be completed until later in the week. Some damage was also done south of New Wilmington.

The borough had just finished cleaning up from another severe storm, which occurred a week ago Saturday and caused damage in many of the same areas as this one.

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., July 3.—(INS)—Boy Scouts lighted and held aloft nearly 50,000 candles last night to climax a day-long demonstration of America's heritage—freedom of worship.

The impressive candlelight ceremony followed seven separate services held within a radius of less than a mile on the scouts' national jamboree grounds at hallowed Valley Forge.

Protestant, Catholic and Jew; Buddhist, Parsi, Moslem and Hindu worshipped at their own rites and then joined in the larger service as 12,000 visitors watched.

The solemn pontifical field mass was celebrated by Most Rev. George L. Leech, bishop of Harrisburg, in a shaded natural amphitheatre.

Church History

Although the history of Croton church reverts back to 1847, it was in 1850 that the first church building was erected on Dewey avenue. A few residents of the community then known as Croton, formed a congregation in the year 1847 and worshipped in the school building until the first church was erected.

The first church, modern in its day, was heated by a "pot-bellied" stove and lighted by lanterns, yet it represented sacrifice of those early founders who desired a place in which to worship God as they saw fit. A library was established shortly after the Civil War growing to 100 volumes, the largest around the city at that time.

Move To Croton Avenue

In 1890 the congregation found it had outgrown its Dewey avenue location and plans were instituted for a new building. The present building was erected in 1893, but in 1911 it proved again too small and an addition had to be built for the fast-growing congregation.

When war clouds of 1916 settled over the church and community, 26 of their men responded to the colors with all the men returning.

The second threat of war and subsequent call to arms in 1941 found 98 boys and girls from the church in uniform with three of that number making the supreme sacrifice. The church sanctuary was re-

Beautiful Blonde Artist Is Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—

(INS)—A beautiful blonde 24-year-old artist whose name was linked romantically with the Shah of Iran, was listed today as a suicide in San Francisco.

Ruth Stevens, who was acquired around town many times by the handsome Shah during his visit to San Francisco last December, took her own life last night in her gay apartment on Russian Hill.

The sophisticated painter and sculptress of modernistic art swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills while her mother and her fiancé sat in an adjoining room.

She had been released earlier in the day from a sanitarium, where she had been treated after a nervous breakdown two months ago.

Her fiancé, William Morehouse, an honor student at the California School of Fine Arts, described the suicide as a "complete and shocking surprise."

There are 3,586,489 letters in the 773,692 words in the Bible.

It's Art Now, You Know

NEW YORK, July 3.—The young ladies of the ensemble, tastefully decked in abbreviated Bikini bathing suits of gold sequins, undulating across the stage in the opening chorus of Michael Todd's newest Broadway production "Peep Show". "Those girls couldn't carry a tune in a basket!" I whispered to my spouse.

"Huh?" he said, and continued to concentrate on the stage, crowded with innumerable lush ladies in decor modeled after Gunga Din's which, if I remember Kipling, consisted of "nothing much before and less than 'art' o' that behind".

"I said those girls can't sing a note," I hissed.

"Oh," he replied, momentarily emerging from the ether.

"Singing too?"

"Are they singing, too?" asked my tired businessman as he polished his distance glasses, the better to aid him in his concentration.

Which simply goes to prove that nothing succeeds like sex in taking the mind off war and weather in these perilous days.

I have a hunch that Mr. Todd's latest extravaganza will do more to cheer up gentlemen who are getting nervous lest they again be in the service than vitamin shots or a five-horse parley.

The production is so lavish and splendid that the queenly beauties in the show ever wear rhinestones in their navels, which was a nasty

YOU SHOULD KNOW

Many people each day pass the north corner of Washington and Jefferson streets without seeing the sign of the blue triangle on the YWCA building. If they do see it, they probably never think that this sign has a meaning. This blue triangle of the YWCA symbolizes body, mind and spirit; a place where you achieve physical health, mental growth and moral strength derived from the Christian way of life.

In New Castle, the YWCA is for you. It is one of your Red Feather agencies in the Community Chest.

Castle View Dedication

Statue Dedicated
Sunday Afternoon

With a reverence that befit the occasion, a marble statue of Christ was dedicated and consecrated Sunday afternoon, July 2, in Castle View Burial Park. The statue is of gleaming white Carrara marble, a copy of the famous Thorvaldsen's "The Christ" and is one of only two in the entire United States.

Interdenominational For the dedication and consecration, a group of ministers and priests of various denominations joined together to make the occasion one of the most unusual religious programs seen here in years.

E. E. Branstetter, organist, opened the program with a group of sacred numbers and the call to worship was by the choir of Highland United Presbyterian church. The choir also presented a choral response to the invocation by Rev. J. Calvin Rose of Second United Presbyterian church. Later an anthem was sung by the choir. E. C. Book directed and Mrs. S. Glenn McCracken accompanied.

Rev. A. C. Howe, pastor of Epworth Methodist church read the scripture. Ross D. Rosenberger, secretary-treasurer of the burial park company presented the statue to the people of this community. Said he, "we are pleased that this day has arrived. The war held back the delivery of it but today it stands here, a symbol of our faith." He presented John E. Elliott, president of the company who spoke briefly and Bernard Zuckermann, the sculptor who came on from New York for the ceremonies.

Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church dedicated The Christ. "It will stand here for years," said he, "to comfort those whose beloved dead are laid in this ground."

The dedication followed the unveiling of the statue by Rev. Robert Meade Patterson, pastor of Central Presbyterian church and Rev. Arthur D. Wenger of First Christian church.

Eternal Light Following the dedication service, a service of consecration was held which was conducted by Rev. Fr. Ralph E. Hovencamp of Trinity Episcopal church, Rev. Fr. Stephen Papanicolaou of St. George Greek Orthodox church, Rev. Fr. Elias N. Nader of St. Elias Syrian Orthodox church and the Very Rev. Fr. Michael Rusynck of Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church. An Eternal Light was then lit, which will burn through the years to come.

Rev. Wenger pronounced the benediction and the service was over. It was not lengthy but it was impressive.

The Christ stands in Holy Rood, the midsection of the park and can be seen from all sections of the park.

Take Off For Alaska

VAN NUYS, Cal., July 3.—(INS)—Twelve Lockheed F-80 Shooting Stars took off from the San Fernando Airport today for delivery to the Air Force at Anchorage, Alaska.

The fighter planes are being ferried by members of the 56th Fighter group who arrived yesterday from their base at Selfridge Field, Mich.

The flight was ordered to strengthen far north squadrons which were placed on an alert when the shooting started in Korea.

The F-80s are the only jets being used by the Air Force abroad. Several hundred are in Japan and Okinawa and they are being used in combat against North Korean fighters.

The jets have a speed of more than 600 miles an hour and carry six machine guns as well as rockets and bombs.

Shaping Plan To Make Use Of Chinese Troops

By JOHN A. NEICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The United States is believed today to be shaping a new plan for working with Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa after a tentative decision not to use them in Korea.

The State department sent a cautiously worded note to Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo deferring acceptance of a proposal by the Chiang Kai-Shek government to supply 33,000 Chinese troops, with air and sea cover, for the Korean fighting.

State department officials, however, left the ultimate decision in the hands of Gen. MacArthur.

The note said MacArthur should be consulted on Nationalist plans for holding Formosa before the Chiang regime is committed to reducing defense forces for its last remaining stronghold.

Department spokesmen noted that Chinese Communist forces on the mainland have renewed their threats to attempt an invasion of Formosa.

A representative from MacArthur's headquarters will go to Formosa within a few days to consult with Nationalist leaders.

Rev. T. C. Henderson To Speak At Moravia

Rev. T. C. Henderson, of this city, will preach Sunday, July 9, at Moravia Presbyterian church. Rev. Henderson is a former pastor of that congregation.

L. B. Round, former song leader of the Men's Christian Fellowship of Lawrence county, will direct the singing. Members who served in the old Bible school orchestra will probably assist with instrumental music.

A large attendance is anticipated at next Sunday morning's service, as former members and adherents of the church, now residing in New Castle, have expressed their intention of attending.

County Scouts
Go Sightseeing

See Many Places
in Philadelphia Tour

(Special To The News)

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., July 2.—Lawrence county Boy Scouts' at the National Jamboree had a guided tour of Philadelphia Saturday. It is bound to be remembered as one of the high points of the jamboree.

At 10:30 in the morning the boys met and marched three miles to the Valley Forge train station. At Philadelphia an Arrow Scout and a city policeman acted as guides of the tour.

Among the places visited were Ben Franklin's grave, Betsy Ross' home, Church of Christ and Independence hall. At the latter place each scout touched the Liberty Bell.

The troop then marched up the main street of Philadelphia to the train station singing marching songs.

The day before all scouts heard President Truman officially open the Jamboree and saw a spectacular pageant.

Recent visitors to the Lawrence county delegation included L. B. Round, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Kenady, Mr. and Mrs. C. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Anderson of New Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Jones of Butler were also visitors.

Sunday morning religious services were held at the arena and at other historic points for the various delegations.

This afternoon our troop gave a demonstration in rope-making, for which we were awarded an honor banner to be flown with the troop flag. Pictures of the rope-making were taken to be included in the official movie of the second National Jamboree. A display of tin can cookery was also shown by Scoutmaster Keith Van Fossan.

Man Steals Show At Amvet Parade With
Many Close Shaves

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 3.—(N)—Henry LeFeave, 46, stole the show from the Amvets parade when he fell from a window 40 feet above the street—but the results would have made a Hollywood stunt man proud.

LeFeave fell while watching the parade. As he passed the third floor he grabbed a slender flag pole. He lost his grip but caught a sign bracket at the next floor. He slipped again and caught a chain supporting the lower end of the sign.

There he held fast until some of the marching veterans broke ranks, ran into the building and hauled him into a second-floor room just as he was losing grip. LeFeave was treated at Springfield hospital for minor back injuries.

Volunteer Reserves
Would Be First To Be In Mobilization

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(INS)—Volunteer reserves in all three armed services would be the first American civilians to see active duty if President Truman should decide on a partial mobilization.

The president is reported to have adopted a "wait and see" attitude on the Korean situation, now that American ground forces have been committed.

He will be given a briefing on the latest developments by Defense Secretary Johnson, State Secretary Acheson and congressional leaders today.

There is no evidence that any mobilization is contemplated at present, but a highly placed defense department official said that any such action undoubtedly would take the form of a call for volunteer reserves.

All Tax Cards
Are Now MailedDiscount in July,
Face in August

By now you have probably received your county tax card. All cards have been mailed by the county treasurer and are payable at discount or face until September 1.

Those taxpayers who pay their score with the county during July will get a five per cent discount. Those who pay them in August pay them at face value. On September 1, a five per cent penalty goes on. Getting the thousands of tax cards prepared and mailed is a job confronting the county treasurer every year. A corps of temporary clerks is necessary to get the cards out on time and this year they went out in plenty of time.

GAS ONCE WASTED

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, July 3.—Paramount studios took more pains getting a camel to a desert location site for "Tripoli" than the film bigwigs took for luscious Maureen O'Hara who only stars in the picture.
Cora the camel, one of the 23 used in the Pine and Thomas production of the early-day marines at Tripoli, was flown to the desert location in a private plane, stocked with grade-A hay.
Maureen, the director, John Payne and others in the cast were packed into an ordinary plane and flown to the site, too. But there was never the hubbub made over them as there was for Cora.

Camels Are Scarce
Camels in filmdom are as scarce as hen's teeth. In fact, any camel can crash Hollywood in a minute. There are only 23 of them in the immediate area and they are the steadiest working "actors" in the business.

The "Tripoli" company wanted 30 camels in the big desert scene, but they settled for the 23, including Cora who is "expecting".
During the two weeks of shooting in the desert scenes, Cora was the center of attention. She was given a special shaded area and kept apart from the rest of the herd.
At the time there were three other studios looking for camels for pictures. The Paramount company guarded their 23 zealously and agreed to every demand of Cora's trainers for her welfare.

RED WILL TRAVEL

Red Skelton and his pretty wife, Georgia, are consulting the travel maps these days, trying to decide where they will go on their first long vacation in years.

They have received invitations from Mohammed A. Alireza of Saudi Arabia, from the king and queen of Egypt and from Doris Duke in Honolulu.

Red doesn't know whether he and Georgia will reach a vacation decision by tossing coins or what. They have been in Honolulu tal-though not as guests of the heires at her fabulous Shangri-La estate, so they figure that they will either end up in Arabia or Egypt.

Chummy With Royalty

Red has a penchant for things Islamic. He probably acquired it when he met Queen Nazli of Egypt and her two princess-daughters in San Francisco last year. Red called his royal friends "regular folks".

When Princess Fathia defied her royal brother and married a commoner recently, the newlyweds were the guests of the Skeltons in Hollywood and they were wine and dined at all the sunset strip nighteries.

Both King Farouk and Queen Nazli had previously invited the Skeltons to come to Egypt and see the sights. Red's pictures are top favorites in the land of the pyramids and he was promised a lavish welcome.

The Skeltons have three months ahead of them. Within the next few days they will decide whether it will be sunbaths at Waikiki or pith helmets in Cairo or Arabia.

Dolls Displayed
At Big Run Program

Big Run playground resembled a doll shop as children displayed their unusual dolls at the playground's annual doll show.

Judges for the event were: Gus Comianos, Katharine Joseph and Mary Jane Tarnock. After much consideration, it was finally decided that Joan Slamon should be awarded first prize for her tiny doll with blonde hair. Judy De-Robbio had an unusual Chinese doll dressed in silk and displayed in a glass case. This entry won her second prize.

Rose Mary Caravaggio was presented third prize for having the funniest doll. It was made from a white sock, with large button eyes and yarn hair. Honorable mention went to Valea Fiorelli for her Spanish doll.

"Modeling day" will be held on Wednesday, July 5, at the grounds.

Mrs. Sarah Demko Has Narrow Escape

Mrs. Sarah Demko, aged 34 years of 504 Sampson street, had a narrow escape at 7:02 a. m. today, when a car she was operating as a student driver was struck by south-bound passenger train No. 404 on the Pennsylvania railroad at the Harbor.

Mrs. Demko was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where she received treatment for a laceration of the head and contusions of the body, arms and legs.

The auto was being east toward the Harbor bridge, across the Shenango river, it was stated.

According to Orland Caiazza, proprietor of the training school, Mrs. Demko had stalled the engine of the car on the tracks, and

Mr. Mele put the car in reverse and instructed her to back up, but that she again stalled the engine and was struck by the train.

LAURA BANNON WED TO EDMUND LIST

Miss Laura Bannon wore an exquisite wedding gown of white lace silk for her marriage Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the First United Presbyterian church to Edmund W. List.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bannon, 1116 Wilmington avenue. Mr. List is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter List of Edenburg.

Rev. Robert Mayo officiated at the beautiful summer wedding. White flowers, glowing candlelight and greenery provided an effective altar setting.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the petite bride's loveliness was enhanced by her distinctive wedding costume, which was fashioned of 40 yards of material and patterned after the wedding gown worn by Elizabeth Taylor. Designed by the bride's mother, the gown featured a net yoke with lace roses appliqued. Tiny eyelet centers were in turn applied on the roses. The Peter Pan collar stood up in back framing the bride's face. Double rows of satin outlined the yoke and formed a deep V in front, accentuating the off-shoulder effect. The bodice was fitted and long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists. Tiny satin covered buttons marched down the front of the bodice and trimmed the sleeves and back of the bodice. A bustle highlighted the back of the skirt. Side panels of satin, giving a redingote effect, complemented the bouffant skirt, revealing a lace underskirt over satin and net. Deep folds of the satin panels gradually tapered into a full court train. A fingertip veil of imported illusion, attached to a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones, accentuated the beauty of the costume. The bride carried a white prayer book covered with a Cattleya orchid. Her only ornament was a white gold lavalier set given to her by the groom. The bride also wore the something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

Miss Beverly Lauderdale of Ellwood City, a close friend of the bride, was maid of honor for the occasion. She was attractively dressed in white marquisette, embroidered with yellow daisies. Yellow ribbon was crushed in back to form a bustle effect.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Hoover and Mrs. Lloyd E. Parish, and junior bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Dewberry and Donna Jean Hartzell, cousins of the bride, were becomingly attired in gowns of pale blue marquisette. The gowns were styled off the shoulder with bustles accentuating the full skirts. The attendants carried cascade bouquets of summer flowers. Miss Patricia Wilson, cousin of the bride, was the dainty flower girl. She carried a basket of summer flowers.

Robert Shane of New Castle served the groom as best man. Ushering were Gene List, brother of the groom, Donald Hoover, Francis Bannon, uncle of the bride, and Charles Spinner.

The bride's uncle, Robert McKim, sang appropriate wedding selections, "My Hero," "I Love You Truly" and "Because." Mrs. Rose Bender was at the organ.

A wedding reception was held in the church basement after the ceremony. The bride's cousin, Mrs. Willa Dean McKim, presided at the guest book. Lovely flowers used as decorations were contributed by Miss Tina Cummins. Miss Shirley Carnes and Mrs. Norman Sockack poured.

When Mr. and Mrs. List return from their wedding trip they will reside at 1717 East Washington street until their new home is built.

Mrs. List is a graduate of Shengango high school. She attended Kent State university and is a graduated registered nurse of the Jameson Memorial hospital, where she is employed as a private duty nurse.

Mr. List was graduated from Union high school and attended New Castle Business college. He is associated in business with his father.

EYES ON THE PACIFIC

Strange Pacific island names that became familiar symbols of battle in World War II—two, Okinawa, Leyte, Guam—appear on your New maps again with the outbreak of a new week-old shooting war involving American land, sea, and air troops in South Korea. The New map above covers the extensive Far Eastern frontier, emphasizing again the great distances that must be covered to operate naval and air forces against an enemy on the Asia mainland. Here can be seen the long flight from Guam to other bases. Guam is the large B-29 base in the Pacific. The United States has under its protectorate, airfields on the Palau islands of Anguar, Peleliu and Babelthau which can be redeployed if the need arises.

Senators Play Johnstown Here Tonight, Two Games Tuesday

Butler Wins Saturday, 8-0; Sunday Game Is Rained Out

The New Castle Senators will open a three game series tonight at Flaherty Memorial Field with the Johnstown Johnnies at 8:30 o'clock. Two games are billed here for Tuesday (Fourth of July), an afternoon game at 2:30, and an evening game at 8 o'clock, with Johnstown.

The Butler Tigers applied an 8 to 0 whitewash job on the Senators Saturday night, with Nels Reeves applying the brush at just the right moments, and right spots. New Castle had 13 men stranded on the base paths, even with seven hits.

Rossman Pitches Tonight
The Sunday afternoon game was washed out in the first inning by a down-pour with the score 5-2 in favor of the Senators who had two outs, five hits, and five runs off of Ayers, a Butler newcomer. The Tigers touched Frank Wagner for two hits, a walk and hit batsman for two runs in the top of the first.

Manager Chuck Cronin announced yesterday that Ben Rossman (7-2) will pitch tonight for the Senators. Johnstown manager Roy Nichols would not announce his starting hurler he said, until just before game time.

Lead By 3 1/2 Games
New Castle lost a half game to the runnerup Oil City team over the weekend, the Refiners winning from Johnstown 7-5 Saturday, and losing Sunday 8-5. Erie in third place, picked up a game and a half by whipping Youngstown twice—16-11, and 2-1. Oil City trails by 3 1/2, Erie by 4 1/2. Butler by 5 1/2.

The Tuesday afternoon game will be known as "Kiddies Day" it was announced, with all children under 12 admitted for 10 cents. The Senators hit the road Wednesday at Vandergrift for a three game series, and then move to Youngstown for the next three, returning here Tuesday, July 11th to battle the Erie Sailors.

Zedalis Loses Again

Stan Zedalis (6-7) was the loser again Saturday night, pitching an eight-hitter by dishing up a home run to Miller, while his mates booted four behind him. Zedalis has been pitching in tough luck his last five times out.

Two errors, three walks and one hit gave the Tigers three runs in the second inning. Butler tallied two more in the fifth. Ray Stuckert led off by a single and scored as Bob Miller lifted one over the center field fence for a home run. Butler added one more in the eighth on two singles and a walk, and two more in the ninth as Miller walked and rode home on "Red" Frazier's home run clout over the left field fence off reliever John Sherban.

SENATOR OUTFIELDER SNEAK-THIEF VICTIM

In some inexplicable manner, a sneak-thief invaded the dressing room of the New Castle Senators Saturday night, at Flaherty Field, and lifted a pocketbook belonging to outfielder George DePillo.

DePillo said that he had many valuables in the pocketbook such as drivers license, and war mementos, and would like to have the pocketbook back, "the thief can keep the money which was between $10 and $15, but I sure would like to have my pocketbook back," DePillo said.

"Saturday was pay day, and luckily I left the biggest share of my money at my rooming house before going to the ball park," DePillo said.

Locke Favorite In British Open

By JOHN CAMSELL

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

TROON, Scotland, July 3.—Bobby Locke, of South Africa, was a prohibitive 3-to-1 favorite today to retain his British Open Golf championship against more than 200 club-swingers gathered from all over the world.

Among the hotter favorites behind Locke was Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., who recently won the British amateur crown.

Qualifying Rounds
The first of two qualifying rounds started today under ideal conditions on the Troon and Lochgordon courses. The second qualifying round will be run off tomorrow to cut the field to 100 for the 72-hole tournament proper starting Wednesday.

After 18-hole single rounds on the Troon course Wednesday and Thursday the field will be further pared to the low 40 for the big push at 36 holes on Friday.

Besides Stranahan, American contenders include Johnny Bulla, a veteran pro, and Jimmy McHale, the Philadelphia amateur, all rated well behind Locke, Stranahan, and other favorites.

Bessemer Host To St. Margarets

Bessemer baseball team of Lawrence County league will be host to St. Margaret's of the City league tonight at 8:15.

Bessemer won the County league playoffs last year. St. Margaret's currently leads the city loop. As far as baseball in this county is concerned, the game is not unlike the August football match between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Cleveland Browns.

The contest marks the beginning of the athletic program of Bessemer's big July 4 celebration. One of the largest crowds ever to witness a game in Bessemer is expected.

Jim Martin will probably call on his son Jim to halt the boys from the city. Manager Razzano and Buccioni of the Saints will have an ace up their sleeves also for the important prestige match.

Louis knocked out Braddock in 1931 to start the longest reign in heavyweight history. Louis finally announced his retirement on March 1, 1949, and it looks as though there won't be another clear-cut champion for another year at least—maybe much longer.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians pitching star, smiles in the locker room Sunday after winning his 200th major league game, in the second game of a double-header between Detroit and Cleveland. Indians lost the first game 8-5. With Feller winning the second one 5-3, although he needed help from Benton in the ninth inning. Feller was signed by the Indians in 1936 during middle of season, and is the only active pitcher today who has achieved this feat.

Feller And DiMaggio Reach New Milestones In Baseball Careers

By JOHN BARRINGTON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 3.—Two baseball veterans—Bob Feller and Joe DiMaggio—reached milestones in their spectacular careers today in circumstances not untimed by irony.

Feller pitched his 200th Major League victory yesterday as the Cleveland Indians defeated Detroit, 5 to 3, in the second game of a double header after losing the first, 8 to 5.

Feller Wins 200th
This new immortality was a crowning touch to a career in which Feller has set Major League records for strikeouts (348) in the 1946 season, 18 in one game) and for one-hit games (10) and has pitched two no-hitters.

Yet the irony was there for Feller won his 200th game on his second attempt and he couldn't quite stick to the finish, needing ninth inning relief from Al Benton. And there was the persistent thought that the big righthander might be nearer 300 triumphs but for four lost wartime seasons at the peak of his ability.

Yanks Whop Sox
DiMag, playing center yesterday, hit his 17th homer as the Yankees snapped out of the doldrums to drub Boston, 15 to 9. Yogi Berra and Mize also homered as the Yankees climbed back into second place, half a game ahead of the Indians. DiMaggio will be used at first base, the Yankees announced, from now on.

Philadelphia defeated Washington, 7 to 4, and Chicago climbed into a fifth place tie with the Senators splitting a twin bill with

Death Dodgers At Canfield Tuesday

CANFIELD, O., July 3.—Stuntmen are made, not born, they have to have plenty of nerve. This statement came from the lips of one of the top smash'em and crash'em men of the day, diminutive Pony Wilson of Cumberland, Maryland, who drives a stock car in virtually every stunt in the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers book and then comes back to jump a motorcycle, ramp to ramp, over the hoods of five 1950 convertibles.

This lead-footed little daredevil will be very much in the fare when the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers take the track at the Canfield Fairgrounds Speedway July 4th, Tuesday afternoon and evening, in what promises to be by far the best action packed thrill show ever presented in this section of the country.

Woman Risks Death
One of the few movie stuntwomen, and perhaps the only auto stunt girl, is petite Paula Lombardo who originally hails from the movie sound stages of Hollywood.

Miss Lombardo is making her first nationwide tour this year with the world famous Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers and will be in the driver's seat when that thrilling troupe comes to the Canfield Speedway for matinee and evening performances Tuesday.

Volant-East Brook To Play On Fourth

Volant-East Brook baseball game scheduled for tonight at East Brook in the North County League will be played at Volant Tuesday afternoon, July 4, it is announced. The game will be part of the Fourth of July program at Volant.

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE
Pulaski at Castlewood.
No. 5 Vets at New Bedford.
W. S. Cities at Brent.
New Wilmington at Eden-Hilliers.

EDEN-HILLIERS WIN

Eden-Hilliers defeated Pulaski 6-5 Friday night in a North County League game that was not reported until today. Roberts was the winning pitcher, Cameron the loser.

Red Munger and Alpha Brazle combined their talents to pitch the St. Louis Cardinals to a 2-to-1 triumph over Pittsburgh, keeping the Cards only three percentage points behind the league leading Phillies. Ralph Kiner's 19th homer accounted for the only Pirate run.

The Chicago Cubs lambasted Cincinnati, 16 to 0, with Walt Dubiel tossing a four-hitter.

Middlecoff Leads Motor City Open

ROYAL OAK, Mich., July 3.—(INS)—Cary Middlecoff of Ormand Beach, Fla., heads the field of contenders for some $18,500 in prizes at the Motor City open golf tournament today.

Middlecoff urged into the lead at the tournament's halfway mark Sunday by posting a six-under-par 66 over the Red Run Country club course to bring his total to 133 for 36 holes.

Close behind was Lloyd Mangrum of Ojai, Cal., with 68-66—134. Middlecoff and Mangrum were co-champions of last year's Motor City open when darkness ended their sudden death playoff.

Public Links Tourney Opens

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 3.—(INS)—The U. S. Golf Association's 25th annual Public Links tournament opens today on the Seneca course in Louisville with a starting field of 209.

Two former champions will compete in the man-to-man tourney. They are Kenneth Towns of San Francisco, last year's winner, and Andy Swedko of Pittsburgh, who triumphed in 1939.

The individual competition pattern follows that now adopted by the U.S.G.A. in its amateur tournament, to be played in Minneapolis next month.

White Sox Send Kozar To Coast

CHICAGO, July 3.—(INS)—The Chicago White Sox have announced the release of infielder Al Kozar to Oakland of the Pacific Coast league on 24-hour option to make room for outfielder Mike McCormick.

Kozar was obtained by the White Sox May 30 in a six-player deal with Washington. McCormick, due to report to the White Sox from the Oakland club today, was purchased to strengthen the right-handed batting power of the Chicago nine.

Lou Boudreau, the skinny kid with the coal black hair and taped-up ankles who created a sensation in the American League 10 years ago, apparently is nearing the end of the road as shortstop for the Cleveland Indians.

Strong All-Star Lineups Picked By Baseball Fans

CHICAGO, July 3.—(INS)—Starting lineups for the annual all-star baseball game included today players from nine clubs in the two major leagues.

American baseball enthusiasts from as far away as Japan, Greece and Switzerland cast 3,167,326 ballots for their favorite players.

On July 11
The all-star game will be played in Chicago July 11.

Lineup for the American league team to be directed by New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, with their averages comprises:

Pitchers are to be selected by the managers.

Leading individual vote getter in the all-star poll was third baseman Kell, who had 1,132,954. The Detroit infielder was American league batting champion in 1949.

Second place in balloting went to Robinson, National league leading hitter and most valuable player last season, with 1,061,522. Williams and Musial were third and fourth.

Only Kell and Williams participated in last year's all-star contest.

Announcement by Jack Solomon, British fight promoter, that he has Lee Savold signed to an exclusive contract caused no great furor in U. S. tin-eared circles.

Boxing apparently faces the longest period in its history without a heavyweight champion to lead the parade.

Plan Hearings On Tax Bills

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—The Senate finance committee maps plans today for tax bill hearings as leaders drive for a wind-up this month on consideration of all tax-spend measures.

Democratic leader Lucas, Ill., is pressing the appropriations committee to send its omnibus bill, including foreign spending, to the Senate floor by Friday for an expected 10 days of debate.

Lucas said he still is aiming at a July 31 adjournment. He claimed that if debate can be held to 10 days each on the appropriations and tax bills, "we'll come pretty close to making it."

The majority leader pointed out, however, that a spread of troubles from Korea to other parts of the world could upset the whole program—canceling out the tax bill and keeping Congress in session for emergency legislation.

Deepening of strife in the world would delay appropriations while committee figures were revised in the light of changed conditions.

The Senate finance committee headed by Sen. George (D) Ga., starts an expected two-week task of overhauling the House-passed bill. This measure would cut wartime excise taxes by more than a billion dollars a year and replace the loss in part from other sources, mostly from corporation tax increases.

Couple Return From Brother's Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Gerlach have returned to their home on the Pulaski road after attending the funeral of Mrs. Gerlach's brother, Rev. Homer B. Longwell, who passed away at his home in Glassboro, N. J.

Because of ill health Rev. Longwell retired from the Baptist mission field in Gaulti, Assam, in 1935. He was preceded in death by his wife who died four years ago, and one son who died in India. Rev. Longwell is survived by one daughter, Dr. Geraldine Doll of Vine-land, N. J.

More than eight million wage earners in the United States had less than $1,000 cash income last year.

MEAT EATER OR VEGETARIAN

CLEVELAND, OHIO—Is Laddie a meat eater or a vegetarian? The answer to that question may determine a $2000 suit filed against Laddie's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O'Sickey by a neighbor who claims the dog has destroyed her garden for three years in a row. Laddie is not without friends, however, as Raymond Zytowiecki, 19 months, gives his pal a bit of encouragement for his court fight. (Acme Telephoto)

New York Stocks

Stock Market Down Slightly

NEW YORK, July 3.—(INS)—The stock market declined fractionally to more than a point today. Although volume was fairly heavy, once the initial accumulation of week-end selling orders was disposed of, trading quieted down. In contrast to the hectic sessions of last week when the ticker fell behind time and time again, it was well able to keep up with floor transactions today.

Among the leaders to give way today were Chrysler off 1½ at 70¾; General Motors off 1½ at 86; Allied Chemical off 1 at 229; American Cyanamid off 1¼ at 66½; General Electric off 1 at 44¾; DuPont off 1¼ at 74¾; Standard Oil of New Jersey off 1¼ at 71¼, and U. S. Steel off ¾ at 32¼.

Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Pacific led the rails downward with losses of 1 point each. Atchafalaya was off ¾ at 110.

Televisions were under pressure. Zenith was off 1½ at 55 and Radio Corporation was down ¾ at 18½ after opening on a block of 7,000 shares at this level.

Volant Ready For Big Fourth

Volant boro is preparing for a big Fourth of July with the Lions club in charge of the affair.

Beginning at 10 a. m., the club is going all out to make the holiday a pleasant one. The schedule of activities will continue through the day until an undesignated hour that night, with a brilliant display of fireworks giving a brilliant finish to the program. At 6 p. m. there will be a real American parade, headed by a fife and drum corps just as all old time parades used to feature. This group comes from Meridian, near Butler. Of local interest will be the Volant baton twirlers, led by Marjorie Lesnett, and composed of several of the boro's younger set.

During the day, ball games will be played by both the Volant Chiefs and the Junior Sportsmen, amusements will be available on the grounds in the evening, picnic tables have been constructed for the convenience of those who wish to come and stay for the day, and refreshments will be available during the day and evening.

This is the third annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Volant Lions and promises to be the best yet.
